

We invite you to enter a variety of gardens, including the unique natural environment of North Carolina Sandhills. Here you will find collections of plants both familiar and unusual, all presented in specially designed landscapes.

Whether you visit to indulge your botanical interest, to learn more about the Sandhills or to enjoy a stroll through our enchanting gardens, you will be enriched by the experience.

The Sandhills Horticultural Society is a public membership, nonprofit organization that provides funds for development of the Gardens; acts as a volunteer organization supplying docents and various garden specialists; offers a variety of garden related special events; and encourages individual, family and lifetime memberships.

This organization provides an excellent opportunity for people to contribute to the growth of the Gardens through membership, donation and volunteer programs. To become active in the continuing development of the Gardens, become a member of the Sandhills Horticultural Society today.

SANDHILLS HORTICULTURAL gardens

SANDHILLS COMMUNITY COLLEGE
PINEHURST, NORTH CAROLINA

Welcome to the Sandhills Horticultural Gardens

Established in 1978 with the creation of the Ebersole Holly Garden, the Sandhills Horticultural Gardens today encompass thirty-two acres and include gardens of diverse styles and designs. Students of the Sandhills Community College Landscape Gardening Program, faculty, staff, and volunteers maintain the Gardens with the support of the Sandhills Horticultural Society.

An integral part of the department's curriculum, the planning, design, construction, and maintenance of the gardens provide field experiences complementing classroom requirements for students pursuing the Associate in Applied Science degree. For more information visit: www.sandhills.edu/landscape-gardening.

The Gardens are open to the public every day from dawn to sunset, offering an educational adventure to anyone with an interest in plants, design composition and nature. If you would like to arrange a guided group tour of the Gardens or reserve the Gardens for special activities, please contact the Sandhills Horticultural Gardens at 910.246.4949.

WALKING TOUR

- G. Victor & Margaret Ball Garden Visitor Center
Begin your visit of the Gardens with an orientation and additional information available at the Center.
- Lottie Sue Williamson Pollinator Garden
The newest addition to our grounds, the Pollinator Garden greets visitors at the entrance. Featuring native perennials, this garden attracts a variety of pollinators. It consists of six honeycomb-shaped beds arranged in a circle, with a trio of leaf sculptures at the center that collect water for the pollinators.
- WWII Memorial
Have a seat and share in the respect of our veterans of Moore County.
- Hoad Children's Garden
This whimsical garden contains plants and other features to stimulate the senses of children as well as adults.
- Hackley Woodland Garden
Featuring a naturalistic design, this garden focuses on shade-loving plants for the Sandhills area, including azaleas, camellias, and rhododendrons.
- Fruit and Vegetable Garden
Visitors will find vegetables, berries, an orchard of fruit trees, a vineyard, and the Bea O'Rand Children's Vegetable Garden.
- Upland Trail
The Upland Trail is the most natural part of our gardens, with a gravel path winding through a wooded area. Take one of the paths off the wetland trail to explore this more rugged route to the lake at the back.
- Desmond Native Wetland Trail
Walk along a boardwalk meandering among plants indigenous to wetland areas of the Sandhills in this nature conservancy and bird sanctuary.

- Ebersole Holly Garden
This is the very first garden designed and created in the Sandhills Horticultural Gardens collection of gardens. It boasts multiple different species and hundreds of cultivars of hollies.
- Margaret H. Ambrose Japanese Garden
Focused on bringing out the essence of nature in harmony with human intervention, this garden features an entry bridge overlooking a dry creek bed, a Tsukubai (stone basin and drip fountain), a Karensansui (dry garden), and an Azumaya (viewing shelter).
- Atkins Hillside Garden
A man-made, winding river-rock stream with waterfalls and pools, a butterfly garden, the Falls Overlook, and a gazebo surrounded by diverse plant specimens are featured in this garden.
- Butterfly Garden
Nestled within the Atkins Hillside Garden, the Butterfly Garden features a mix of ornamental and native annuals and perennials. Plants are selected for their nectar and ability to support caterpillars.
- Succulent Garden
Cacti and succulents not native to this area flourish in a unique microclimate created by the stucco walls of the garden.
- Sir Walter Raleigh Garden
Designed and constructed in 1984 to commemorate the attempted colonization of Roanoke Island in 1584, this formal English Garden exhibits several smaller gardens, including the Holly Maze, the Fountain Courtyard, the Sunken Garden, the Ceremonial Courtyard, and the Herb Garden.
- Conifer Garden
This fine collection features varieties of slow-growing conifers that reflect color, form and texture of foliage not often viewed in the Southern states.
- Annual Garden
Each year, the students of the Landscape Gardening program introduce a different surprise theme for this ever-changing garden.
- Perennial Border
The Perennial Border, located outside the Sir Walter Raleigh Gardens, features a mix of herbaceous perennials, flowering bulbs and ornamental grasses, this area offers a vibrant, year-round display of color and texture that complements the surrounding gardens.
